

Diesel Engine Rebuild Facility

The facility rebuilds both tractor and truck diesel engines. The process uses soaps and surfactants to clean the engine and parts during the rebuilding process. The wastewater generated is treated using the Floccin 1105 in a water reuse system designed by Integrated Engineers, Inc. All of the water is reused in this closed loop system. Here is an example of the jars before and after treatment showing good treated water quality with 1 chemical.

